Find your ancestor's voyage

About 90,000 Latter-day Saint converts crossed the oceans during the 19th century, heeding a call to come to Zion. The Saints by Sea website offers inspiring accounts of their journeys. The autobiographies, journals, diaries, reminiscences, images, and letters link to hundreds of known LDS immigrant voyages and provide a composite history of Latter-day Saint immigration to America. Their Stories

"I felt so bad my heart seemed to turn over. I had the impression not to look at my mother again, so I took my babe in arms... and turned my face toward Zion and left the home of my childhood, all my kindred and associates, for the Gospel's sake."

From Autobiography of Ann Coope Harvey

"We have sometimes been almost suffocated with heat in the old ship, sometimes almost froze with cold. We have had to sleep on boards, instead of feathers, and on boxes which was worse. We have been crammed together, so that we had scarce room to move about, & 14 of us had to live night and day for several days, in a

"At one time the captain said to Knud Peterson, 'If I hadn't d--d Mormons on board I would have been in New York six weeks ago.' Peterson said to him, 'If you hadn't Mormons on board, you would have been in hell six weeks ago.'"

CASTLE GARDEN: America's First Immigration Center

Castlegarden.org is a free database developed and funded by The Battery Conservancy. It contains and makes available eleven million records of immigrants who arrived at the Port of New York from 1820 - 1892. Today more than 100 million Americans can trace their ancestry to this early period of immigration.

Castlegarden.org is a resource for educators, scholars, students, family historians, and the interested public.

With the increased volume of immigrants arriving sick or having died in transit, the U.S. Congress in 1819 passed legislation to limit the number of passengers on each ship. The US Customs Service was designated to monitor immigration.
